

YEOVIL & DISTRICT NHS RETIREMENT FELLOWSHIP
Charity evening in association with

The Swan Theatre Company present
Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf By Edward Albee

When Martha and George are joined by young couple, Nick and Honey, after a party, the stage is set for a night of drunken recriminations and revelations. Battle-lines are drawn as Martha and George drag their guests into their own private hell of a marriage.

Directed by Phil Turley

Monday 11th March
Doors open 7.15pm
Show starts at 7:30 pm

The Swan Theatre Company Charity Night (Monday 11th March) is on behalf of the Yeovil & District NHS Retirement Fellowship which is part of a national charity (Reg Charity No.287936). This Branch was formed in 2014 and concentrates on the welfare of members who have retired from work at local hospitals or care in the community. This is achieved through monthly meetings, subsidised outings and short breaks, which provide much needed social interaction for members, some of whom live alone or may have reduced mobility. The Branch needs ongoing financial support to hire a meeting place and to fund both educational and entertaining speakers. In addition there is a benevolent fund available to help any members who are having financial difficulties.
